

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Bloomfield Lodge No. 40, F. & A. M., will hold a communication next Tuesday night.

The High School Association will have a meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 9th, in the High School building.

The Montclair firemen wear diamonds and the Bloomfield fire ladders wear buttons as a result of the bars burning on Bay Avenue.

Mrs. M. Kinnier, of 170 Broad Street, has a night blooming cereus with 15 buds which are expected to burst into bloom to-morrow night.

Thos. D. Brown, brother of A. J. Brown, who formerly resided here, and a member of Bloomfield Lodge No. 40, F. & A. M., is quite sick at his home, where he now lives, in Middletown, N. Y.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York are prompt in making settlements. Their agent, handled Mrs. Hall a check yesterday, being within 48 hours after her husband's death.

The Lightfoot Drum and Fife Corps have taken a room at Dodd's Hall, having re-organized for the campaign with E. W. Gardner as leader. They will have new uniforms and are going to make themselves prominent.

Henry L. Brown, the engineer of the first train ever run on the M. & E. R. R., died at his home at New Lebanon, N. Y., on June 15th. A. O. Crane of Hoboken is the only survivor of the crew who manned the original train.

Wm. H. Lander was released from duty as ticket agent and telegraph operator on Thursday, Sept. 1st, by Daniel Stahler of Montclair. Mr. Lander will go into the service of the Postal Telegraph Company at their main office in New York.

Another attempt was made to break into the house of Arthur J. King on Belleville Avenue last Saturday night. They tried to pry the kitchen window open, but were unsuccessful, as the windows and doors had been barricaded from within.

The Bowers had its usual brawl last Sunday night. It does seem as if there should be some way of making these people keep the peace. Arrests without charges being preferred and commitments made by the magistrate will not bring it about.

Mrs. Anna Crane, wife of Jos. Crane of Franklin Ave., across the Canal, died on Wednesday night after an illness of nearly a year, aged 75. Her funeral will take place on the arrival of relatives from Wisconsin of which notice will be given hereafter.

Wm. S. Pierson Post, G. A. R., will meet at 7th Friday night and transact some important business. They will have an entertainment at the Catholic Union Hall on the evening of October 21st, which will be a National Holiday known as Columbus or Discovery Day.

At 2 o'clock A. M. last Saturday the fire department was called out to extinguish a fire at John Herman's house on Glenwood Avenue. The fire was put out and so was Herman, who had gone to bed with a lighted pipe in his mouth and a can of kerosene under the bed.

A great many are embracing the opportunity of going to Niagara Falls on Sept. 4th, which will be the last of the season. The excursion tickets are $5, and $3.20 covers the entire cost of seeing the sights including one day's board at the hotel, making the entire outlay only $8.20.

Maple Street will be the last street macadamized this year and when done that street and Spruce Street to Belleville Avenue will present a fine appearance. The property owners on Spruce Street from Belleville Avenue to Maple and Broad are having sidewalks laid.

Wm. R. Corby, coal dealer, does not seem to have been affected by any new combination in coal, as he had built by Ward a new coal wagon which is "the wagon" in that line of business. It presents a handsome appearance with his name on brass plates, and a pair of white horses and new harness. He advertises also in The Record.

Sarah White, widow of William E. Heath, died on Monday in Brooklyn. She was the sister of the late James White and aunt of Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin. She was well known to many of the old residents of Bloomfield. Her funeral took place on Wednesday. Interment in Greenwood Cemetery.

Licent measures with young ruffians in Belleville, has led to continued acts of violence that make them a terror to the town. A vigorous enforcement of the law would have stopped it in the bud. Let the law take its full course against those midnight marauders in Bloomfield. We have heard of one man who will give $50.00 for a lookout. That is a good starter.

The public schools will be opened on Tuesday, Sept. 6th. Books will be taken down from the shelves, dusted off, and the bright and merry faces of the school children will once more be seen as they wend their way to the citadels of learning. New teachers will in some instances greet them and claim their students' attention and their best esteem.

At the funeral of Benedict Hall on Tuesday there were a number of floral pieces contributed by the family and friends as well as of esteem. Wm. S. Pierson Post of the Women's Relief Corps sent a large wreath which bore the legend "Our Courage which was made by the ladies of the Corps. They are indebted to Mr. Rassbach for kind attention and help.

Jacob A. Post of 22 Franklin Street has a clock which is a curiosity well worth seeing. It is what is known as a Grandfather's Clock, made in 1769. There is only one other like it in the country and that was exhibited at the Chicago Exposition. Mr. Post is proud of the clock which he has and may have pleasure in showing it to those who call. Admission free.

Philip Santos, who was known as "No. 229" and lived in the trench on Newark Avenue, Bloomfield, with about forty other Italians, was instantly killed at the Montclair Street section of the sewer in Soho Monday afternoon. They were hoisting up dirt in the buckets by steam when the gas came down and the bucket crushed Santos to the earth. He was 27 years old and unmarried.

The contractors had the remains taken to Orange and attended to the burial. Elizabeth Geib, the wife of Frederick Geib, died at her residence in East Orange after only a short illness on Tuesday. She was in the 46th year of her age. Her funeral took place at 3 P. M. yesterday at the German Presbyterian Church, Bloomfield. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Henry Seibert, D. D. John G. Keyler was funeral director and the interment was made in Bloomfield Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barr, Jr., will start next Tuesday on a tour through Northern New York and Canada. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

Rev. Edwin A. White and family will return from Lake Hopatcong to-morrow. Services will be resumed as usual in Christ Episcopal Church with Sunday School at 3 P. M.

Conductor Henry Hoffman and engineer Geo. Stetcher of the M. & E. R. Road attended the Knight Templars Convention at Denver and visited Yellow Stone Park.

Edwin A. Raynor has gone to Boston to spend his vacation, but within reach of the wires should the Democratic Congressional Convention of the 4th District nominate him for Congress.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornish of Broad Street, accompanied by Mr. Herbert Baldwin, have gone on a trip through Southern Long Island. They will stop a few days at Islip and Bay Shore to visit relatives and friends, and anticipate having a delightful outing. Among the promised pleasures is a yacht sail across Great South Bay to Fire Island.

Exhibition of the New Organ.

The time for the organ and organ recital at the new Church of the Sacred Heart has been changed, as it will take place on Thursday evening, Sept. 8th. The price of tickets of admission will be 50 cents, proceeds for the benefit of the church. Prof. William C. Carl will preside at the organ, and under his touch the power, volume and sweetness of its tone will be fully brought out. To Mr. W. T. Grover they are indebted for the array of talent which has been secured for the concert. The following eminent professionals will be heard: Miss Susanna Leonard, Soprano, of the Lillian Russell Opera Co. Miss Nellie Edmunds, Contralto. Mr. Albert Steele, Tenor. Mr. Edward Hopper, Baritone. Mr. Owen Westford, Comedian. Miss Vera Ryall, Harpist. Mr. G. W. Root and Miss Hattie Leonard, Pianists. These artists have an established reputation, and have kindly volunteered their services in the interest of the church.

Arrangements for the Bazaar, which will open on Monday, Sept. 13th and continue during the week, are going forward.

Lively Runaway Accident.

A horse known as Billy, belonging to C. P. Svenson, 417 Bloomfield Avenue, made the dust fly Thursday, at about 11 A. M. Wm. Henry Smith, who had just returned from a call on his customers with a large batch of orders to fill, went into the store leaving the horse as usual standing in front of the butcher shop. Something startled the horse, (it is supposed that a slug shot by a boy was the cause) and away he went down the driveway to the barn, where he made a short turn. The wagon, catching on to a corner of the shed, the hind wheels stayed there, the front wheels going with the badly frightened horse over the lawn and up the avenue past the house formerly occupied by Mr. Freeman and on to Franklin Street, where the wheels locked into a hitching post and threw the horse, who made a complete somersault. The horse was caught and taken to the stable, his legs and hind quarters being badly cut. The wagon, which was valued at $500, is a wreck.

Bloomfield Evangelical Union.

A meeting of all the visitors, supervisors, and members of the General Committee will be held in the Park M. E. Sunday School room on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Full instructions will be given visitors about the work, and final arrangements will be made to enter upon it. Every visitor and supervisor should be present in order to obtain the necessary literature for use in the general visitation of the families of the town.

Glen Ridge Notes.

Mrs. Norris of Glen Ridge lost a valuable coach horse which was taken, sick and died on Sunday night.

The contractors have been taken to macadamize Lincoln street from Ridge-wood avenue.

Miss Josie M. Earl went Owego Tuesday, to join her mother. They will both return home the latter part of next week.

Preparations are being made for the macadam on Highland avenue and when that is done it will complete road building in Glen Ridge for this year.

There was a tournament of the Glen Ridge Tennis Club last Saturday, in which Miss Mildred Daniel defeated Miss Grace Smith in the ladies singles, thereby winning the gold medal and championship of the Club. Miss Daniels is to be congratulated.

Meat will be sold at reduced prices commencing Monday Sept. 5th, at HOPKINS.

Watessing and East Orange.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson formerly stationed at the Watessing M. E. Church and returned to Watessing M. E. Church last Sunday.

The Newark train due at Watessing Friday night last at 7:45 P. M., instantly killed Walter Mead of Watessing, near the Grove Street crossing. The train was stopped and the remains were got together and taken to McDougall's undertaking shop. He was son of Richard Mead, 35 years of age and unmarried. His funeral took place from the residence of his parents on Monday afternoon and was attended by Rev. Albert Clement.

Mr. Samuel Eiler and family, who have been absent in Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., returned on Monday.

Mr. Charles Spain died on Sunday at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Charles West. He had been sick for one year with consumption and was aged 25 years. Rev. C. A. Cook officiated.

The Stars and Y. M. C. A. of Bloomfield will play the second game of the series of five on the Watessing grounds on Saturday.

Mr. Arthur A. Eiler went on a bicycle trip this last week up the Hudson as far as Matewan.

Mr. Reese Edwards bought a lot of the Rayner estate of Mr. Francis Law.

Miss Kate Hamacher of East Orange and Christian Bunch of Montclair were married at the house of the bride's parents on Dodd Street, East Orange, on Wednesday evening. Rev. H. C. Grubert of Orange performed the ceremony.

The Letter Carrier's Association of Montclair will have a picnic at the Montclair Opera House on the afternoon and evening of Monday, which is Labor Day.

Worship in the Sunday-school.

BY F. N. PELoubET, D. D.

Editor Bloomfield Record.

The following article from the pen of F. N. Peloubet, D. D., as published in the Sunday School Times, is on a subject, the importance of which is apparently not appreciated as it should be by many Sunday School workers. Many of our scholars come from Christian homes, do not attend the church service and the only opportunity they have of forming an idea of worship is in the Sunday School. If during the opening and closing exercises but little attention is paid to the solemnities of the occasion, these scholars will have a very poor conception of the spirit of worship. The best Sunday School superintendents I have known, Parula Jacobus, Warramaker, Whittle and others, would not allow the school to commence singing until every member had the book open to the hymn, nor read the lesson until each one had the text before them, nor lead in prayer until every head was bowed. Will you kindly give the article a place in your columns.

M. "How many Sunday-schools ask their superintendents, as the disciples asked, 'Lord, teach us how to pray?' How many superintendents teach their children how to pray? I know a boy, and a bright boy, who has since become a prominent business man—who, for a long time, had not a thought that he was to follow the prayer of the leader, and make it his own. How many children have been taught to pray with the leader? Have you ever heard it mentioned in Sunday-school? Have you noticed in how few schools the children all take the attitudes of prayer, or even seem to have in this portion of the worship? In the majority of schools that come under my observation, from one-half to two-thirds do it. And yet President Hopkins was philosophically correct when he taught the young men in college that whoever neglected the natural forms and postures of prayer would soon also lose the spirit of prayer. The very worship-training in not a few schools is toward irreverence and neglect of worship.

Let us, like the angel in the poem, look unseen into one or two schools during prayer. In one, every scholar and teacher is kneeling on the carpet floor, in his neighbor, every eye is closed and every head is bowed in reverent worship. The superintendent has taught the school that each heart should join silently in the spoken words of the leader, so that the prayer is not a solitary voice going up to heaven, but a mighty chorus of hundreds of hearts all sending the same petition, with one voice, to God. The leader in such a prayer is not called suddenly and unexpectedly from his other duties to the duties of the hour, but he has been, previously notified, has thought over the needs of those whom he leads in prayer, and he speaks so loudly and distinctly that all the school can hear him. Such a school is indeed "the house of God and the gate of heaven." Most schools now repeat the Lord's Prayer in concert. Many have for the younger departments dictated prayers. Is there prayer enough in most schools?

It seems to me that it is in the singing portion of the worship that the average school shows the widest gulf between the actual and the easily attainable. This gulf is not fixed. Almost every school has fairly good singing; very few seem to have a collection of what they might do in this direction. Fringe-meetings for the Sunday evening service are becoming popular. An eloquent city minister said not long ago that this change had added nearly half to his evening audience; and yet all he had done was to add one more hymn to the usual service.

It is almost necessary to have a Sunday-school choir, who can be trained more easily in new music, and who have voice enough to carry the whole school with them. Usually, when we look in the faces of a school during singing, we see quite a large number who take no part in this worship of song. This is especially true of the boys. A good leader will take peculiar and continual pains to bring every voice in the chorus. In many cases, it is well to use more variety in this service. There are schools where a single voice or the choir takes a solo part, while the whole school unites in the chorus; and they frequently have responsive singing between two parts of the room, or between the boys and the girls. These schools do excellently well who, together with the music especially adapted to children, make the children familiar with the choicest of the church hymns, which are full of poetic fervor and devotion, and are the "survival of the fittest" from all ages, the gems which we inherited from the fathers.

Cooking Is Now a Science.

Cookery in these latter days has become a science. Cookbooks leave no room for guesswork. We no longer mix our ingredients as the woman said she made her brown bread: "First I put in what meal I think I will need, then what rye the meal will bear; next a good sized pinch of salt; next a little flour, a trifle of molasses and as much water or milk as I think it wants, and then bake it till I see it is done."—Troy Times.
